

Executive Summary

This app aims to fill the gap in travel apps by being dedicated to researching places of interest and finding nearby hotels and restaurants based on selected places of interest. In this way, it makes it easier for users to plan an itinerary for their trip. Most other travel apps are concentrated on finding the best deals for a given destination but there are not many that assist with trip planning on a more granular level. The app is aimed for personal use and does not collect any data from its users. At a high level, it shows a map with annotations of tourist attractions in a chosen destination city, displays information about it, and retrieves data on nearby hotels and restaurants. Users are able to save their favourite attractions and make a personalized list that is stored as a user Default.